Commissioners Say Their $620 a Month Is Justified

Randall County commissioners, who pay themselves $620 per month in salary and car allowance as governing officials, said Monday they believe their pay is justified.

In a brief session before and after Monday's regular commission meeting, commissioners told The News they earn their pay by attending many scheduled meetings of various agencies and bodies related to county government.

Their comments were directed at recent News editorials questioning their salaries, and came after Commissioner Jim Fletcher invited News Editor Carroll Wilson to attend "all the meetings" the commissioners must attend in their official capacities.

Fletcher and Commissioner John Fulgenzi contended the commissioners spend far more than a few hours per week in regular commission meetings doing their jobs as commissioners.

"The reason I'm not running again is because it's taking too much time," Commissioner Bill Butler said. "If it just took four hours, I'd be crazy not to run again."

Butler will retire from the commissioners court in January after a decade of service.

He contends that even an afternoon meeting every Monday — the regular meeting time for the commissioners — messes up the whole day for business purposes.

"If you get a meeting at 9:30 in the morning that morning is shot," Fulgenzi said. "If you go to a luncheon, the meeting is not usually over until 2:30 or 3."

"I've been working two or three nights a week as a result of this job," Butler said, "and what with the calls and the meetings..."

"We commissioners make more meetings than you can shake a stick at,"

Fletcher said, and he outlined some of those meetings.

"One week during the month I have one day with the PRPC (Panhandle Regional Planning Commission), one day with child welfare," he said. "This next Saturday I will spend all day in a PRPC meeting."

Fulgenzi later in the day Monday opened his calendar book to The News, saying he's been keeping a record of the many meetings he must attend each month on county business.

But, a review of October and November indicated no more than three meetings during evenings in each of those months.

"Well," Fulgenzi said closing the calendar book, "anyway, I've figured I spend two days a week on this job."

If he spends 16 hours per week on his commissioner work, Fulgenzi calculated the wage per hour he receives as a commissioner at about $10 per hour.

He said that figure is justified because his time is worth much more than that. He also cited

Recession's Woes Seen As Distant From Canyon

While inflation has caused fiscal problems for the City of Canyon in the current budget and promises to cause more problems in next year's budget, its companion illness, recession, will probably have little direct impact here, City Manager George Loudder said last week.

Recession will probably hit other cities very hard, he said, and most cities will have a hard time dealing with it.

"Growth moderates inflation," he said. "Recession, the decrease in retail business and the increase in unemployment, will make it much more difficult to finance city government."

While built-in counter-measures can be installed in city budgets to fight inflation, management can do little to control the recessionary trend, he said.

"There'll be a rising demand for services while a decrease in revenue," he said.

Loudder believes recession will have little impact in Canyon although some spin-off effects can be expected.

Inflation, then, is still his top worry as he begins preparing the budget proposal for presentation to city commissioners next April 1.

"Inflation hurt us most severely this current fiscal year," he said, "and we had anticipated that type situation."

The city absorbed, for example, a large increase in personnel costs when city employees were placed on a new salary schedule.

Fuel costs have likewise risen and that is a trend Loudder expects to continue.

In those areas where the city must purchase the services of people the costs have accelerated at an unanticipated rate and Loudder said it has been difficult trying to hold the line on spending in those areas.

"Inflation is the thing we're going to have to do some things to control," he said. "As the cost of government goes up, generally the property tax goes up also because of the increased value of property. Sales tax revenues go up too."

The natural processes help to offset the problems of inflation, but going into the planning stages for next year's budget the city manager will have to come up with some good predictions for '75-'76.

"In maintenance and repair of vehicles and plant equipment it will take some major adjustments," he said.

Loudder doesn't expect the inflationary trend to subside soon

COVERING FUMBLE
by
Dean Mitch Jones

We Americans spend more money for things that we don't really want than for the necessities of life.

Says Supplement System Unfair

Dean Cites Inequities In Pay For Judges

"You're not going to generate any sympathy for fellows who make $30,000 a year salaries," Dist. Judge Don Dean said with a smile as the smoke from his pipe rose to the ceiling of his Potter County courthouse office.

Dean, who's served on the bench of the 181st District Court in Potter and Randall Counties for five years, announced recently he will resign his position to enter private law practice. He admits the promise of more money wooed him from the state's employ.

But, Dean's not looking for sympathy, a sympathy he knows he doesn't deserve. He's looking for some concern and some healthy interest.

Because as a member of the 10-man Commission on Judicial Manpower and Resource Allocation, he's seen the state-wide inequities in pay for district court judges and he believes he's seen the beginnings of a problem which would endanger quality trial court adjudication.

The problem is, basically, money and the way district judges are paid and by whom they are paid, according to Dean.

The problem is inequity, but not inequity alone.

Dean quotes figures which indicate the salary ranges for district judges are from the state-paid level of $25,000 all the way to $38,000 which includes supplemental income from counties.

Until last year, for example, district judges in Houston made more money than did members of the state supreme court.

Theoretically, all district judges in the state have the same duties and responsibilities and adjudicate the same types of cases. Yet, Dean says, the pay levels are not commensurate with this reality.

In Houston, for example, district judges draw their $25,000 as paid by the state to all district judges plus a supplement of $13,000 per year which is paid by Harris County.

In Potter and Randall Counties, the district judge makes the $25,000 base salary paid by the state plus a supplement of $7000 paid by the counties.

"I'm for abolishing the supplement system," Dean says, "because it compromises the county, the judge and it also places the burden on the county."

Dean explained that the district judge and the county have an unusual constitutional relationship which makes the supplement system at best a touchy thing.

The constitution provides that the district judge shall have supervisory control of the county commissioners court and that control shall be exercised through court procedures.

At the same time, the judge must go to the county for a substantial part of his pay and therefore is in the position of having supervisory control over a body he may at some time have to rule against or in favor of in certain legal actions.

This opens the door for a compromising of the judge's position and places a threatened burden on the county commissioners.

Dean believes the supplemental system is also unfair to the county because the county in most cases in Texas must come up with the supplemental salaries.

"The burden of operating a state district court ought to be borne by the State of Texas and should be staffed by the State of Texas," he said. "It shouldn't be left for the county commission to bear the burden of it and it shouldn't be left for the district judge to have to persuade a commissioners court to staff a state court."

Dean said the state judiciary should be appropriated state funds to become a full and co-equal partner in the three branches of government in Texas.

While the way salaries are paid and by whom they are paid are problems Dean believes need to be addressed, he sees problems too in the level of salary district judges are given.

"I'm not about to say you can't get a good man to take the bench," he said.

penalties for violation of the law:

"Any member of a governing body who willfully calls or aids in calling or organizing a special or called meeting or session which is closed to the public, or who willfully closes or aids in closing a regular meeting or session to the public, or who willfully participates in a regular, special, or called meeting or session which is closed to the public where a closed meeting is not permitted by the provisions of this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction is punishable by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 or imprisonment in the county jail for not less than one month nor more than six months, or both."

"We feel that Mr. Box willfully violated the provisions of this law, which is designed to protect the public's interest in an institution which is wholly financed by taxpayer money," Wilson said of the News action. "The public has a right to know how each regent voted on the issue of rehiring Mayfield. The public also has a right to expect Mr. Box to respect the procedural safeguards stipulated in state law for a sound reason."

Wilson said there is also reason to believe that Mayfield's contract was not the only item discussed by regents during their closed session.

The News has learned that regents took action to remove Keith Winter, WTSU director of development, from the chain of command in intercollegiate athletics. Winter had been responsible under Watkins for athletics.

Box Should Step Aside

(An Editorial)

The name of WTSU Board Chairman Cloyce K. Box is under a cloud in connection with a $10,000 campaign contribution to Governor Dolph Briscoe.

This is the same kind of storm which has engulfed Richard Nixon and threatens the future of former Governor John Connally.

We have our belly full of rich and arrogant men manipulating our system of government.

Lawyers for Briscoe are now saying they're not sure who contributed the $10,000 handed to fund raisers by OKC President Box.

There is thinly veiled allegation in wire stories coming out of Austin that Box put the arm on 100 OKC employees to cough up $100 each for the Briscoe fund and parted company with those who didn't.

United Press International says investigations have determined that at least four employees refused to donate and 13 others did not repay Box for cash he said he donated for them and are no longer employed by OKC.

For the time being, at least, Box is an albatross around the neck of a struggling West Texas State University.

In the past the chairman has shown a willful disregard for rules that did not suit his convenience and a near brutal approach in dealing with those helpless in his power.

We believe that the role of Mr. Box in the campaign fund controversy renders his continued chairmanship or even participation in board matters a detriment to the university at the present time.

If Mr. Box indeed has the interest of WTSU at heart he will turn the chairmanship over to Vice-Chairman B. Raymond Evans and refrain from exerting any authority in the operation of the board or the university until his name is cleared in this most serious matter.

FROM THE

CANYON RIM

Randall County Criminal District Attorney George Dowlen is investigating last Friday's meeting of the West Texas State University board of regents.

The DA thinks there is a strong possibility that board Chairman Cloyce K. Box may have flaunted the open meeting law when he called the regents into executive session to hire one-time teammate Gene Mayfield to direct the fortunes of Buffalo football for another five years.

Here at The Canyon News we are convinced that the head of the mighty OKC conglomerate did so willfully and with the arrogance for which he is swiftly becoming famous on the campus of his alma mater whose regents he heads.

Being a man of the world who has rubbed shoulders and money with presidents and governors, especially governors, Box should know better.

In a given closed meeting with as many as three present two have to be dead and the third deaf and dumb for the proceedings to remain secret.

Friday's executive session was no exception. Reports oozing out of the meeting lead us here at The News to believe the meeting was only the tip of an iceberg.

It appears that Box may have arbitrarily made himself West Texas State's super athletic director from whom there is no appeal.

Box is a long-time friend of Mayfield and apparently has taken Mayfield's side in a dispute between the athletic director and Basketball Coach Ron Ekker.

Box and Don Curry, regent from Fort Worth, flew in for the executive session at which the Mayfield contract was extended five years and then flew out again.

The executive session was called without the regular meeting having been formally opened. The regents met for 30 minutes and then Curry and Box departed even before the regular meeting was called to order by vice chairman B. Raymond Evans of Tulsa.

The executive meeting was not on the agenda. In fact the university administration was made aware of the impending session less than 24 hours before it took place.

Mayfield's contract still has a year to run so I can only ask: "Why the hurry?"

The Box move was made as though a dire emergency existed. If such an emergency did exist then why wasn't the administration notified?

Here at The News we believe Mr. Box violated the law. If the violation occurred, as we believe it did, the facts should be brought out in a court of law whether Mr. Box chooses to fight the case or plead guilty.

If the violation was premeditated it constitutes misuse of the authority of his office and Mr. Box should resign immediately.

Farm Bureau Promotes Certificates

The Randall County Farm Bureau has joined in the statewide promotion of "getting down to basics with Christmas gift certificates for meat, poultry and dairy products."

Judge Woody Pond this week proclaimed the month of December as "Give Meat, Poultry and Dairy Products Month" and the Farm Bureau has announced that gift certificates are now available in Canyon grocery stores and at the Farm Bureau, located at 1714 Fifth Avenue.

Special envelopes and message cards are also available for persons wishing to send checks or money orders outside of the city.

According to Judge Pond, the idea of an "old fashioned farm and ranch Christmas" presents "a happy solution to the dilemma of what to give for Christmas since the giving of these basic foodstuffs expresses "the true spirit of the season."

County, Loudder Eye Fire Plan

Final details on a new fire protection plan for the rural areas of Randall County are expected to be completed within a week in an effort to provide more concentrated fire coverage at less cost to the county, County Commissioner Paul Lindsey told other commissioners Monday.

The plan, presented and viewed favorably by an ad hoc committee last Friday night here, also met tentative approval of county commissioners and City Manager George Loudder this week.

The committee, chaired by Lindsey, gave an initial go-ahead to the plan's concept which calls for the Canyon volunteer fire department to take over full responsibility for fighting fires in the rural areas of the county with five other fire departments providing on-call back-up fire service.

Commissioners termed the plan a step forward in fire protection after Lindsey detailed the plan as outlined at Friday's committee meeting which was attended by representatives of the county, Canyon's department, Happy's fire unit, Umbarger, Lake Tanglewood, Amarillo and Bushland.

Currently, the Canyon department fights fires in the rural areas south of Hollywood Road and outside areas covered by Umbarger, Happy, Bushland and Tanglewood. The county currently pays $800 per fire call for fire fighting service provided by the City of Amarillo in rural areas north of Hollywood Road and that fee has been the point of contention for several months between the county and Amarillo.

Loudder expressed only tentative support of the plan, although he said he embraces the concept of Canyon acting as the clearing house for fire service.

"My position is this," he said, "If the fire department can come up with a workable plan that can deliver fire service, I feel certain the communities will support it."

Following Friday's meeting, Canyon Fire Chief Jack Jennings, Fire Capt. Joe Rice and the Amarillo fire chief were to meet to formulate detail plans to implement the general concept outlined last week.

"I would support anything which would not jeopardize Canyon and which would satisfy the needs of the rural areas," Loudder said.

But, Loudder said the details worked out for communications, first response responsibilities and so on could alter significantly the overall concept and he would withhold full support until the final plan is prepared and presented.

"I don't want to be tied down to anything right now," he said.

The plan calls for the county to purchase a new water truck for the Canyon fire department to aid in the fighting of rural fires. It also calls for the city to receive an increased supplement from the county for the service. A current contract on the exchange of services has Randall County paying several thousand dollars per year to the city for the fire service now provided.

County commissioners viewed the plan without reservation, at their Monday meeting.

In other business Monday, commissioners received a report from road superintendent Joe West on his plans for road paving next summer. West said he will seal coat 13 miles of county road and plans to pave 2.6 miles of roads. Cost for paving will be about $3000 per mile, he told commissioners. Commissioners discussed briefly the possibility of purchasing equipment to pave the roads.

Commissioners received notice from William Davis, court reporter for the 47th District Court, that he will resign at the end of this month.

Davis is court reporter for Dist. Judge E. E. "Gene" Jordan, who retires as of Jan. 1.

They also decided to give county employees 1 1/2 days vacation for Christmas, beginning at noon on Tuesday, Dec. 24. A county employees party will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the courthouse.

"The Case For Pay"

Before I start I want everyone to know that I agree that George Dowlen, Cliff Longest and LeRoy Hutton should be given a raise in salary. But don't stop there, so should everyone else who works for the County and has not had a cost of living increase in pay. It costs just as much for them to eat as the ones mentioned.

There are 18 employees in Potter County Clerk's Office, and I counted less than six in the Randall County Tax Office. But the workload is different. You know I once fired a good, capable man (the best in that field of endeavor) who could not work other people under him. Who wants a one-man operation these days? I am sure the Superintendent of Schools in Canyon does not make the salary as that of the Superintendent of Amarillo Schools. One superintendent left Amarillo to go to Houston and lasted less than two years.

Back to the County Commissioners — there are still left a lot of dedicated people that are civic minded who would be good County Commissioners and would serve without pay. The City Commissioners do this very thing, and put in more hours than any County Commissioner. I read recently where factory employees took a cut in salary so the ones who were tagged to be layed off could keep their jobs. How about that!

One you know better than you do me, Carroll Wilson, (although I have been in Amarillo since 1924) has told you that the County Commissioners are not knowledgeable enough to know the budget picture to argue with confidence that funds are not there, hidden in some crevice to pay for the annex.

Crop Disaster Pay Total High

High prices for a record nation-wide wheat crop this year may have put more money in the pockets of the nation's farmers, but in Randall County many farmers are still waiting for the federal government to pick up a small amount of the tab for a dismal wheat harvest here.

While figures are not yet complete at the local ASCS office, it appears at year's end that the government will pay almost as much in crop disaster payments to Randall County farmers as was paid in 1973 for crop subsidies.

Mrs. Marie Miller, acting director of the ASCS here, said her office has processed federal disaster payments for about a half million dollars so far "and that's a drop in the bucket."

She said the figure could run well over the $2 million mark for Randall County wheat and grain sorghum farmers, hard hit by drought and then too much rain.

So far, she said, her office has paid checks of about $500,000 for 32,909 acres of wheat and 7868 acres of grain sorghum, but she said the great bulk of the disaster payments have not yet been processed for payment.

The county's wheat crop was virtually a complete loss due to a drought which extended from August 1973 to August 1974. During that period, fewer than six inches of moisture fell in the county, withering the young wheat plants.

Many farmers did not even bother to harvest the crop last summer.

The grain sorghum crop this fall has been termed below average due to early fall rains and cool wet weather extending through the harvest period. Many acres of sorghum simply did not mature.

If the disaster payments, which provide a small amount of money for acres lost, approach the $2 million figure to county farmers this year, they will total almost as much as county farmers received in 1973 from the government in subsidies. That year, the final year for government subsidy payments, farmers here received a total of $2.3 million.

MEDICINES NOW ARE MORE HELPFUL

Not so long ago we had very few drugs that could always be depended upon to give positive help. Usually, relief from pain or discomfort, till the disease subsided, was the expected help.

But, now we have potent medicines, obtained only after a physician's examination and by his prescription, which really offer prompt relief and usually a speedy cure. It is now unnecessary to suffer from any repeated discomforts or pains.

Two Families Ailing, Need Aid

By ANN MELIN

The conversations with both fathers began on the same imploring note.

"Carmen, we do not like to beg. We are men."

In both cases, Canyon service leader Carmen Hernandez leaned forward and in a mixture of Spanish and English explained what apparently was her view on the receiving end of human charity:

"There is no disgrace in not working when you are unable or when there is no work to be had. There is no disgrace in asking for help when help is needed. To swallow pride and ask for help for the sake of your family — that can be the hardest work of all for men like yourselves."

The fathers, one the head of a nine-member family and other the head of a seven-member family, were both victims of back ailments that put them out of the

Funeral Rites Held Here For J. Roy Davis

Funeral services for Joseph Roy Davis, 80, were held Monday, Dec. 9, at LaGrone Funeral Chapel in Canyon with Rev. Darold Baldwin of the First Baptist Church, Canyon, officiating.

Mr. Davis died December 5 at Cotton Nursing Home in Lawton, Okla. He was a former resident of the Canyon area and had lived east of the city since moving here from Borger 15 years ago. He was born June 25, 1894 at Dyke, Colo. and was married to the late Laura E. Davis. She died in 1971.

Mr. Davis was a retired farmer and stockman. He held memberships in the Masonic Lodge, the Shriners and the Oddfellow Lodge.

The funeral rites were followed with interment at West Park Cemetery in Hereford. Serving as pallbearers were Bill Davis, C. S. Thompson, Dean Schaeffer, Murray Boston, Cristler Crain and Gene Morrison.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Michael H. Kendrick of Lawton, Okla.; a sister, Mildred Ford of Pagosa Springs, Colo.; and two grandchildren.

Asked if he considered himself a good greens-keeper, the father replied straightforwardly, "I challenge anyone to show me better-kept greens than mine."

doesn't have any bites. "With my back injury, I don't think employers want to take a chance on me." More than anything, he says, he'd like to get back into greens-keeping.

Meanwhile, the final payment on the large, three-bedroom house the family is occupying looms, due before the first of the year. The father hopes he can complete an insurance settlement before that time so he can meet the payment, which amounts to about $6500. Utility bills also worry him, since it costs roughly $75 a month to keep the house heated and lighted.

Before taking leave of his guest, the father gets up and goes to a table where he lays aside a wire of Christmas tree lights sitting in a silver dish. Turning over the dish, he reads out the inscription on the back. It is from a Ladies' Golf Tournament team, in gratitude for the excellent keeping of the greens.

While the one father of seven has hope of being able to return to work, the other father has been advised by his physician that he will have to "take it easy" indefinitely. At the age of 45, he is retired, receiving a small disabilities pension which he says is sufficient to meet the needs of his family, which includes two crippled daughters.

The arthritic father and two daughters suffering from crippling spinal ailments have been in and out of hospitals throughout the state.

He soon found that job too strenuous, and was let go four years ago. Since then, he has tried out other jobs, only having to leave them after about six weeks due to his health. The family moved to this area about a year ago hoping the dry climate would improve the father's condition. They occupy a four-acre spread in Umbarger but have been so far unable to plant anything. Last summer, an attempt to put in a garden sent the man back into the hospital for surgery.

Seeking vocational rehabilitation proved frustrating for the man since he said he only had four years of schooling and could barely even read. His whole life he has worked manually, and the 25-pound limit he is now able to shoulder is usually insufficient to meet the demands of a job, he says.

"Most of my life I was holding down two jobs at the same time. When I worked in the ship field, I also had my own janitorial service. Same thing when I was a crane operator. But now, every time I try to get back to work, I just can't make the day without the pain coming over me."

GIFTS FOR AN OLD-FASHIONED FARM & RANCH CHRISTMAS

Christmas in the country conjures up thoughts of tables laden with home-grown foods fresh from a crackling wood-burning stove. Steaming meat and poultry dishes and an array of delicious dairy products!

While it isn't possible to bring back the past, we can still enjoy the foods that made Christmas in the country such a delightful experience.

And you can give this treat for that someone special on your Christmas list. Just go to your favorite grocery store and ask for a gift certificate redeemable in meat, poultry and dairy products.

Or, if you'd prefer to give by check or money order, come by our office and pick up a supply of colorful gift envelopes and message cards.

“American Epic” Unfolds At WTSU Band concert

“American Epic,” a singular work created out of a multiplicity of musical idioms and interwoven with the threads of over thirty familiar national tunes, will be among the compositions to be performed at the West Texas State University Symphonic and Concert Band program, slated at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

For the first time in the WT music department history, there are three concert bands — the Maroon and White concert bands, and the Symphonic Band. Each ensemble will perform on the Sunday concert, which is free to the public.

Russell Peck’s “American Epic” is perhaps the most noteworthy among works to be performed, according to WTSU band director Gary Garner, because the piece is dedicated to one of America’s greatest composers. Centennial observances of Ives’ contribution to American music are now in progress throughout the country, according to Dr. Garner.

Ives is particularly known for his utilization of the folk and pop music of Americana in the

“But, the mature lawyer in any given community is making considerably more than the district judge who we hope will also be a mature and capable lawyer,” he said. “What you’re doing is asking a man to leave a practice he spent years building to take a job that’s probably not going to pay as much money and then to be concerned about financing elections he has no guarantee on. Then should he decide to leave the bench, he has to start over and rebuild a practice because the clients he had have found another good lawyer.”

Dean stressed that the salary doesn’t necessarily mean that good, mature and capable attorneys won’t run and be elected to the district court benches, but a minimal salary does lessen the chances that such a man will step forward.

The financing of elections is a major consideration to district judges, Dean said, and serves to lessen even more the salary paid by state and counties.

He said an election for district judge in Potter and Randall counties costs about $10,000, a cost which must be borne every four years. In Dallas County, he said, the cost to campaign is about $30,000.

“Where does that money come from?” he asked. “By and large the public is not concerned with financing a judicial race. Money has to come from the attorneys. So you put the man who’s running in the position of having to go hat in hand to the lawyers for money and then the next day or next month he has to rule on their cases. It dilutes the independence of the judiciary to have to do that, but I don’t know a judge in Texas who’d rule one way or another because a law firm contributed or didn’t contribute.”

construction workers’ salaries which approach or surpass the $10 per hour figure.

Commissioners also contended that even without the extra meetings they must attend, they must spend a good amount of time talking to residents of their precincts about road and other problems. “Even though we have Joe West, who is a good superintendent, it doesn’t relieve us of any responsibility to oversee the roads in Randall County and spend a great deal of time on the phone on roads,” Fletcher said.

Fulgenzi argued that the salaries could also be justified on a philosophical basis. “If you pay somebody too much are they really, there to serve the public or for what they can make out of the job?” he asked. “On the other hand, if you don’t pay anything then can’t get anyone from any section to participate. There’s a point where if you pay something you can get some people who are interested in serving to do it.”

Fulgenzi believes the salaries and allowances paid Randall commissioners is adequate to insure qualified people run for the office, but not so high that the people will elect representatives interested in only the money.

When reminded that Amarillo and Canyon city commissioners earn virtually nothing as citizen representatives, Fulgenzi and Fletcher said the county commissioner’s job is different, entailing different responsibilities and duties.

“If we had a county manager and all we had to do was review what his staff prepared then you’d be correct in saying, yeh, we’re overpaid,” Fulgenzi said.

The commissioners pointed out they make much less than some commissioners of other counties. Potter County commissioners are given a salary of well over $11,000 per year, for example.

Ladies Visit At Work Session

By MILDRED TURNER
THE PALISADES LADIES met over at Estelle Atkinson’s Thursday at one o’clock for a work-plan-vist-session. Sure was good to see everyone. I hardly knew little Kathleen, Becky Guess’ daughter, she had grown so much.

Becky was working on a broomstick weave afghan. Got to see Vicki and Randy Hooker’s little son, Charles Randall. I had gone up to see him once but no one was home. He’s a cutie. Pearl Vaughn was doing a bear on a quilt or on a quilt or something. Stacy Penny was crocheting granny squares. I was just visiting since I had to leave for a dental appointment.

Frances Tucker said she left home to get out of work so didn’t bring any with her.

Estelle told us that Judy, Joyce and Nina were busy painting pots for the plants to take to Girls Town. We are having a pretty good response on this project so if you have donations of any sort call Judy Webb, 622-1211; Joyce McDonald, 622-0790; Nina Root, 622-0858; or Estelle Atkinson, 622-0190.

We wish to thank Crawford Ruthart of Canyon for his donation also.

A CHRISTMAS PARTY is planned for Dec. 19 at 11:30 a.m. This will be a covered dish luncheon, exchange of gifts, and will be in the home of Frances Tucker. Estelle served cookies, cakes or hot spiced tea to about a dozen ladies. See you at the Christmas party.

YOUNG PEOPLE FROM the BSU in Canyon gave testimonies and had charge of the Sunday evening service. We went to church with Garland’s brother and family so did not attend this service. Pearl Vaughn said, “It was just wonderful.”

WE WELCOME MR. and Mrs. James Scott to our neighborhood. I heard by the grapevine they had finished building and got moved.

SARA AND JOHN Bowie have a new baby girl, 7 lbs. 3 oz. named Erin Caldwell. She will be called Erin. This is Mrs. Bowie’s first grandchild and she brought pictures for us to see this beauty. She brought Heath back to spend a week with us. All he could talk about was the “airplane.”

When I asked about baby sister he was so matter of fact. He and Brent Bailey spent the night last night and there have not been any dull moments around here. Brent put his shoes on the wrong feet, then like a big cousin, tied Heath’s shoes for him. I heard one of them telling Boothe’s cat “Now, have some kittens, please.” I guess they think she can oblige anytime they ask.

Well, I had better turn this off and get to the mailbox. See you next week.

Navy WAVE Friends Have Reunion Here

Mrs. E. A. Pendleton of Bloomfield, Connecticut was a recent houseguest of the Wm. F. Schuettes, east of Canyon. The two women had been Navy WAVE friends during the service and had not seen each other since 1946, when they were discharged from the U.S. Navy.

In addition, this was Mrs. Pendleton’s first visit to Texas and she was favorably impressed with this part of the nation, especially the cottonfields, cattle, feedlots, and the flat open terrain.

Mrs. Schuette noted in reporting her friend’s visit that she asked “where are the hills and the trees” and “liked the quietness of farm life compared to city life.”

“She couldn’t believe the low prices in stores and cafes here,” noted Mrs. Schuette. “At the Village Inn, Mrs. Thelma Foster even autographed a menu for her to show her family back home for comparison.”

While here, Mrs. Pendleton was also entertained with a visit to the campus of West Texas State University and the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

will also sing the Ukrainian Christmas “Carol of the Bells,” Hawley Aides’ “The Most Wonderful Time of the Year,” Irving Berlin’s “White Christmas” and “Twelve Days After Christmas.”

The concert will culminate with a performance of selected Christmas carols sung by the combined choirs.

"THE CHRISTMAS STORY" was read by Margaret Echols Moore as the inspirational program Monday afternoon at Sue Hite Club's annual Christmas party.

Old Fashioned Christmas Theme At Sue Hite Club

"An Old Fashioned Christmas in Texas" was the theme for the December Christmas party of the Sue Hite Study Club. Many decorations that were typical of early Christmas celebrations were scattered throughout the home of Moira Myrl Wheelock, the hostess.

A lighted kerosene lantern accented a large, old Bible opened at the Christmas story. This was part of a table arrangement that featured a tree decorated with popcorn, cranberries and paper chains.

Each guest was presented with a Christmas corsage of miniature pine cones, acorns, berries, and greenery. Coffee and decorated cookies were served by the hostesses: Stella Hill, Jane Hensley, Frances Holman and Ermyl Cooper.

Bonnie Hinger presented different ways that early Texans are known to have spent the Christmas season at various places and times. By the mid 1840s, Texas received the largest band of Germans to reach any state of the lower south. They brought with them the decorated Christmas tree, and popularized the goose as the Christmas bird.

The early days found everyone in a given area being welcomed at any festivities that occurred during the holidays. Gifts were often homemade or necessity purchases.

The early cowboys had a song that many sang called "The Cowboys' Christmas Ball." Donna Wilson sang the first verse as a solo and then led the group in singing and becoming familiar with it. Maudie Laycock presented the Christmas experiences that we might have had or our grandparents as they celebrated and prepared for the season. With the coming of automobiles, phones, good roads, and a larger population, people came to invitation parties and a change in celebration.

Margaret Moore read the Bible scripture of the birth of Christ as found in Luke. A medley of different arrangements of "Silent Night" and "Away in a Manger" was played by Adalene Barker.

Group singing led by Donna Wilson to the accompaniment of Eloise Burgess and Moira Myrl Wheelock at the piano and organ preceded the gift exchange of gifts like "grandma" would have given.

From under the tree each guest received a net sack filled with hard candies and nuts.

Siesta Noticias

By DORIS McKEE
CHRISTMAS IS REALLY beginning to fill the air. People are putting up their trees, decorating inside and outside and everyone is getting into the spirit of the coming holiday season. When it comes right down to it, it's only twelve more days until Christmas Eve.

SPEAKING OF CHRISTMAS, Pearl's party last Friday night was a real whing ding. Her whole house was decorated and that included the bathroom too. There was no way you could be there and not get the Christmas Spirit. The refreshments were delicious and lots of them.

Barbara Longan, the Tupperware dealer who conducted this party, was most delightful. She showed several new items of great interest and gave lots of great gift ideas and ways to decorate using Tupperware. She was very fashionable in her long black skirt and just before she left for home, she did a strip for some of us ladies who were still present. She took off her skirt, so driving would be easier. Of course, she had black slacks on under the skirt. You know, that's a real great idea, just wear matching colored slacks under your long skirts and be comfortable.

All those ladies attending the party were: Elizabeth Burks, Lois Cheatham, Anne Bork, Ruby Huddleston and Donna West all of Amarillo; Billie Stancil of Perryton; Doris Wallace, Pat Reed, Sharon Jones, Linda Shaffer, Clarice Heglin, Pearl and myself from Siesta. Both Pearl and Pearl had on long dresses and I wore bells. All in all it was a most enjoyable evening and everyone had a great time.

JON AND DIANA Hoffman attended a Santa Fe dinner party Saturday night at the Villa Inn. They said the food was good and it was a very enjoyable evening.

WAS TALKING to Dorothy Robertson on Monday night and she said she and Ernie and the boys went to Albuquerque to her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McMath, over the Thanksgiving holiday. They enjoyed it very much.

I CALLED EUNICE Rinehart to see how Barney was doing. She brought him home from the hospital the end of the week and he is doing pretty well. He is on a special diet, medication and plenty of rest routine. Hope everything goes well and he's soon feeling great. Eunice did tell me that she and Barney had a big Thanksgiving dinner at her daughter's home, Charollet and Tom McWilliams, Sr. in Amarillo. Also attending were Bob Rinehart, his girl friend and her son. Barney wasn't feeling good then but they did manage a pretty good day. Seems Barney's sister, Vera Tate of Hobbs, N.M. has been in the hospital. Eunice has been now. Barney and Eunice have been concerned about her, but Barney has to take care of himself. Boy, when it rains it pours.

Eunice said their grandson Mark McWilliams of Amarillo and a friend went to Albuquerque this weekend to visit his brother and sister-in-law, Belanie and Tom McWilliams, Jr. I think, if Barney had been well, Eunice would have gotten into her snow suit and greased up her skis and bummed a ride for her and Barney out Albuquerque way. Better luck next time, Eunice.

PAT AND TEX Reed decided to get away from the park this weekend, so off they drove to San Angelo to spend the weekend with Terry and Janie Tuckness.

Saturday night they all went to Lowawie, to an Inn for steaks. Pat said the atmosphere wasn't much, but the meal was really delicious. For Sunday dinner Pat made her delicious spaghetti sauce and everyone enjoyed a big spaghetti dinner. Pat said they had a real nice and enjoyable time, but sure were tired out when they got home around 10 p.m. Sunday.

MR. AND MRS. Paul Qualls got to bring Jamey Glenn home last week. He had gained up to 5 pounds, 2 1/2 ounces. Seems to be doing fine. An apology to their 5 year old son, Guy Raymond, whom I called Jeffery a couple of weeks back. Guy is real happy with his new little brother. The Qualls had company over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Dane Qualls, Paul's folks, of Friona came to see the new grandson. Also Jackie Qualls, Paul's brother of Wheeler came.

JOE DALE STEWART is doing pretty well since his surgery. He is still home, but hopefully will be able to return to work soon.

SUSIE SINGLETARY, OLETA Potter's mother is back in the hospital again. Hopeshe is feeling better real soon and back home.

RANDY JONES HAD his tonsils out Monday morning. He came home late that afternoon and is doing fine.

SHARON JONES SAID they finally got their case settled. This has been pending for just under a year. They were in a wreck around the first of last year and finally almost a year later everything was settled, out of court. This is a big relief for them. Saturday night after they got the call, they got with Kenneth and Linda Shaffer and went out to eat and celebrated the end of a long ordeal.

FLOYD AND JONNIE Robertson took Floyd's dad, Mr. Jack Robertson home to Sanford this weekend. He is recovering nicely from his surgery.

SOMEWHERE IN THE course of my conversation with Jonnie she told me that Joel, her 10 year old son, is taking drum lessons, and doing quite well. I might add. It seems Frank Howard comes to their home on Wednesday after school and gives the lessons. You know this sounds like a great idea, if you want to take some kind of music lessons. He does give lessons on several musical instruments, at $3 a lesson. If you might be interested call him at 373-2174. I also understand his wife teaches twirling for $5 a month at your home also.

I DISCOVERED THAT the Blue Bird group that meets at Siesta was recently involved in the Doll Parade in Western Plaza. The girls made hand puppets for their project in helping out the Toys for Tots. The Doll Parade was a parade of some 300 girls who wanted to help out underprivileged children by making and donating to Toys for Tots. The Blue Bird group from Siesta went as Christmas Trees. Sharon Jones, their leader said the girls really enjoyed participating in this project.

SHARON JONES ATTENDED a Camp Fire Girls luncheon on Tuesday. She said she got to wear her long dress and go all out. It's really nice to get involved in things.

A REPORT ON sports: The 7th grade boys purple basketball team played Boys Ranch last week. Marty Hoffman who played on this team didn't want me to use the score, but he did say Boys Ranch defeated them. Seems Michael Coffelt lost his wrestling match Saturday afternoon. He wasn't pinned but lost on points. He wrestles for Lawndale. The final score Saturday was Lawndale 14 and YMCA 16.

The Gene Howe team wrestled Sunrise Saturday afternoon at the Maverick Club. Mickey Bays lost his match on points. Cletis Belyeu pinned his opponent. This coming weekend is the city tournament, so I would like to wish our boys the very best of luck in your matches.

The eighth grade girls purple basketball team went to Phillips Monday night. It seems Phillips outscored them to a 32 to 23 win. Janet Coffelt plays on this team. Better luck next game.

GUESS IT IS time to sign off for this week. Keep on Reading. Thought for this week: "Friendship is like a great masterpiece. It will last forever, if it is taken care of and protected." This is the season to renew old friendships and encourage new friendships. See ya.

Bufs To Host Adams Tonight

The West Texas State University Buffaloes, after a respectable showing against Houston Monday night, will go after a couple of wins tonight and Saturday in Amarillo action.

The Bufs will meet Adams State at Amarillo tonight and St. Cloud State at Amarillo Saturday night.

The West Texans of Coach Ron Ekker were edged 80-71 by the nationally-ranked University of Houston Cougars Monday night in Amarillo.

Howard Taylor was leading Buff scorer with 23 points on 10 field goals and three free throws. Eugene Smith hit 16 points as did William Dize followed by Reggie Ramey with 12.

Adams State is 1-3 for the season with their only win Monday night against Southern Colorado. They lost to Panhandle State Tuesday night by a 84-78 margin.

St. Cloud is 3-1 for the season and they are to play Hardin-Simmons before coming to the Panhandle on Friday night.

Scout Recruitment Drive Is Underway

A recruitment meeting for all boys interested in scouting is to be held this evening, Dec. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the all-purpose room of Rex Reeves Elementary School with new scouts being recruited for Troop 66 Boy Scouts and Cub Pack 31.

"We hope to gain about 30 new scouts at this meeting tonight," noted the members of the Randall District Board of Boy Scouting who met Dec. 5 to set a drive for new members.

Forms have been sent to the various schools of the district for those interested in Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts. It was reported that 39 new scouts have been added in the district since September and it is hoped that 91 more will be signed by the end of December to meet the current goal of 425 in the scouting district.

Scout executive, Jerry Helfenbeim, and local district board members: Gene Grabber, Lee Roy Moreland, Ken Thompson and Roy Lyles were present for the recent board meeting.

Plans were discussed for a recruitment of scouts at Happy which was held Tuesday evening of this week at the school cafeteria.

On Saturday, Dec. 14, Canyon scoutmasters and patrol leaders will be having a "hike for scouts" beginning with a morning meeting at 8 a.m. at the United Methodist Church where the survey cards of boys interested in scouting will be distributed. Records are to be completed and turned in by 5 p.m.

Boys interested in joining scouting may gain any required information from the scouting office, 374-5348.

Driveway Sale Set To Send Delegates To National Meeting

The sale will be held at 2110 Third Avenue and will include small appliances, household knickknacks and other items. The sale is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with all proceeds going to sponsor the convention delegates' trip.
